the research reported in caught in the act draws together the insights gained from a continuous professional development initiative for high school mathematics teachers teaching in low socio economic status and socially challenged environments in south africa the chapters show the possibilities for enhancing achievement in school mathematics if a strength based approach is adopted to develop teaching with teachers and when their concerns are taken seriously the book demonstrates that the ecological relevance fitness for the context in which teachers are teaching of the goods developed and distributed by initiatives should be a major consideration to offer hope for sustainable implementation to improve school mathematics education the book is of interest to mathematics teachers school leaders mathematics curriculum advisors policy makers and researchers this edited volume advances knowledge of food security and food sovereignty for students and researchers the book analyses and interprets field data and interrogates relevant literature which forms the basis for decisions on improving food security and sovereignty in africa it deepens an understanding of food fraud and of multinational corporations mncs manipulations of food quality to the detriment of consumers it provides information to advance new knowledge on the issue of international interdependency of unequal exchange and the inactions of governments against the dumping and waste of food the role of education in enabling the sustainable development agenda explores the relationship between education and other key sectors of development in the context of the new global sustainable development goals sdg agenda while it is widely understood that there is a positive relationship between education and other dimensions of development and populations around the world show a clear desire for more and better education education remains an under financed and under prioritised sector within development when education does make it onto the agenda investment is usually diverted towards increasing access to formal schooling without focusing on the intrinsic value of education as a tool for development within the international development community more broadly the authors explore these tensions through a review of literature from a range of disciplines providing a clearer picture of the relationship between education and other development sectors the book challenges silo thinking in the sdgs by exploring how achieving the sdg education targets can be expected to support or hinder progress towards other targets and vice versa drawing on examples from both low and high income countries the book demonstrates how good education functions as an enabling right impacting positively on many other areas the book's scope ranges across education and development studies economics geography sociology and environmental studies and will be of interest to any researchers and students with an interest in education and the sdgs
